Protect your machine with this reliable and straightforward AV program that wonâ??t fill your PC with countless, useless functions that wonâ??t matter in case of an imminent attack. NANO AntiVirus Pro spells its purpose out to the user from the start. It is an antivirus solution that offers a simple interface through which one can ultimately gain access to protection against malware and other threats lurking on the internet. It can also protect against locally found threats, of course. Itâ??s funny how the particle nano, from its name, is in direct opposition with the importance of what this app does; protect individuals from cybernetic threat.
