Deal with maps and extract them using this application, using Google's cartographic knowledge for the benefit of your own projects. Google Maps Downloader is pretty much what this application does, not only what it is named. In other words, you can find and create maps for offline use based on the data collected through the Google Maps application. Before actually creating any file, you can adjust and customize your selection to give the best possible results, allowing you to end up with the final product you desired in the first place.
