A one-stop solution for your drive monitoring and management needs, this program offers users many kinds of ways to test and analyze their HDDs and SSDs. Drive issues are no laughing matter, especially when they involve any kind of failure. Unlike other hardware, hard disks and SSDs happen to have a lifespan that, at least in theory, is lower than other components. This is precisely related to the maximum wear the component can sustain: SSDs come with a TBW rating, while mechanical wear is often a concern with HDDs.
